Supportive statement summarising reasons for nomination/application

Image Con Text is a pedagogic project going back to 1979. Part One was scripted for and transferred onto videotape... (with the help of a small Channel Four Television development grant) after several years of presenting it 'live' to audiences. The Award would enable a greater amount of time be spent preparing the script for Part Two before being similarly produced on video utilising the resources of the Bristol Film Workshop and Watershed Video. A rough of the initial publicity that would be required to 'sell' such an approach is enclosed and the Award would 'buy time' for proper research, (in conjunction with other bodies such as BFI Education), into design, layout and printing of the final publicity and the practical aspect of the distribution of such an interlocking approach. It is also planned to continue and extend the initiative as part of the Workshop's activities beyond these initial steps of developing a critical and theoretical background to the practice of integrating the production and consumption of films and tapes in the independent and grant-aided sector.
