

THE LONG ROAD

(Hi-band u-matic. mono sound. 24 mins. 1991)

A young woman about to embark on a voyage to Ireland, reflects on the journey that brought her parents to England. As she speaks, a progressive layering of sounds and images that circumscribe Irish culture, build up and gradually enfold her. Her reverie continues, shifting between the voices that shape her identity and making connections between her own experience and the historic and political roots of irish emigration.
